World War I ended 100 years ago on Nov. 11, 1918. Many young men and a very few women from our area were involved in this war. Who were they? Who went and who came home again? This presentation will focus on the Prince Albert and area connections to what was then called The Great War and look at the aftermath of that war that still exists in Europe today.

Two members of the Prince Albert Historical Society will anchor this presentation. Lorraine Brassard is very involved in the extensive archives held by the Society. She travelled to France and Belgium recently and has a family connection to the Great War. Connie Gerwing is the current president of the society and researched many of the personal connections to the War when updating the military displays at the Historical Museum.
